

INTRODUCTION

ITR Pacific is strongly committed to the health and safety of all its employees, contractors and visitors.

OBJECTIVES

ITR Pacific believes that these objectives can only be achieved through a systematic risk management approach to these issues that includes consultation with employees and other stakeholders. ITR Pacific is therefore committed to:

- Ensuring that Workplace Health, Safety and Injury Management are an integral part of our business plan, and included in Management meeting agendas.
- Involving employees or their representatives in decision-making regarding workplace Health and Safety through proactive meetings or on an individual basis.
- Identifying, assessing and controlling all risks consistent with the nature of the workplace activities and the scale of the risks.

- Providing management and employees with a clear understanding of this policy and their responsibilities in the implementation of the policy and procedures.
- Complying with all legislative requirements related to Workplace Health and Safety.
- Setting measurable objectives and targets to ensure continuous improvement in Workplace Health and Safety.
- Providing adequate instruction, information, training and competent supervision.
- Communicating to employees, contractors and visitors any Workplace Health and Safety issues relevant to the workplace.
- Promoting safe behaviour at every opportunity.
- Monitoring and reviewing this policy and associated procedures to mitigate risks in all our activities.
